DESTINATION

Founded in 1946, the Kingdom of Jordan is a land of contrasts – from ancient ruins amidst desert sands to leading-edge business. The capital, Amman, is a bustling city of two million people, spread across seven gentle hills. All of its buildings are finished in local white limestone, earning Amman its signature title as the White City. Friendly and safe for walking, the capital features a busy commercial and administrative centre and beautiful residential neighbourhoods.

While much of the city has been built over the past 50 years, significant archaeological remains give testament to its place in history. Within an easy day trip lie the ancient ruins of Jerash and Petra. The surrounding landscape ranges from the desert of Wadi Rum to the fertile Jordan Valley to the salty shores of the Dead Sea.

WEATHER

Jordan is blessed with a Mediterranean climate, making for pleasurable year-round travel. Amman is sunny and cloudless from May to October, with average temperatures around 25°C (80°F) and very low humidity. Because of the city's elevation, evenings are cool and the city enjoys an outdoor dining/café culture.

Jordan Archaeological Museum:

- The Jordan Archaeological Museum, on Citadel Hill, houses antiquities dating from prehistoric times through the 15th century, including the Dead Sea Scrolls. The hill offers a view across the Old City and is the site of the ruins of the Temple of Hercules, as well as the remains of Roman walls and an Arab castle dating from the seventh century.

Jordan Museum of Popular Tradition:

- The Jordan Museum of Popular Tradition is divided into four sections: Palestinian, Jordanian, Syrian and Bedouin. Within these sections are shown home furnishings, cooking utensils, musical instruments, embroidery and antique jewellery. The museum also houses a collection of mosaics from some Byzantine churches in Jordan.

Citadel/Roman Amphitheatre:

- Towering above Amman, this is the site of the earliest fortifications and the subject of numerous excavations, which have revealed remains from the Neolithic, Hellenistic, late Roman and Arab Islamic eras. This site includes many structures such as the Temple of Hercules, the Umayyad Palace and a Byzantine church. At the foot of the Citadel lies the 6,000-seat Roman amphitheatre, which resembles a deep-sided bowl carved into the hill. It is still used for cultural events today. Dead Sea:

- The storied Dead Sea is the lowest point on earth, more than 400 metres (1,312 feet) below sea level. This large lake has the highest salt concentration in the world and gives visitors a unique swimming experience.

Jerash :

Jerash is a wonderfully complete record of the layout and architecture of a typical Roman city of its time. With temples, colonnaded streets and a theatre with a capacity of 5,000, Jerash is a delight to explore. Every summer it hosts the Jerash Festival, now a major cultural event offering music, dancing, singing and crafts.

Madaba:

- Madaba is a city of breathtaking mosaics. Pre-eminent among them is a magnificent map dating from 200 AD. This unique piece of art represents the biblical lands from Egypt to Lebanon, including Sinai, Israel, Palestine and Transjordan. It is considered to be the best topographic representation done prior to modern topography.

Mount Nebo:

The red rose city of Petra is one of the Seven Wonders of the World.

Wadi Rum:

- "Rum the magnificent ... vast, echoing and godlike" is how a captivated T.E. Lawrence described Wadi Rum. Massive pillars of sandstone rock rise from the rose-red desert floor. Uniquely weathered, these majestic cliffs tower over 1,500 metres (4,900 feet) high. Dawn and dusk bring an amazing spectacle of changing colours of light on the rock and sand. Wadi Rum is a protected area, with plans in place to create a 500-square-kilometre (193-square-mile) national park. Opportunities for climbing and trekking abound in the area, and the flora and fauna are exquisite and numerous.

Aqaba:

- The beach resort of Aqaba is renowned all over the world for scuba diving in the Red Sea. Located on the northern tip of the Gulf of Aqaba and surrounded by rugged and dramatic mountains, the town offers 27 kilometres (17 miles) of sandy beaches. Warm water and coral reefs add to the attraction of this charming and friendly destination. Note: Aqaba is a four-hour drive from the Hotel; scheduled charter flights are also available.
